CHALLENGE

This year, we're launching the Facing Difference Challenge.

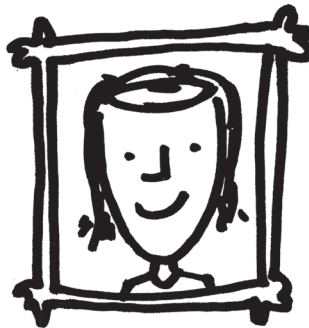

Differences are something to celebrate—your culture, your ethnicity, your language, your personality—all are part of what makes you special! And when we are open to learning and understanding people who are different than us, it makes things more interesting and fun. By learning more about others, we gain new friends and become better at dealing with conflict.

Facing difference helps build peace!

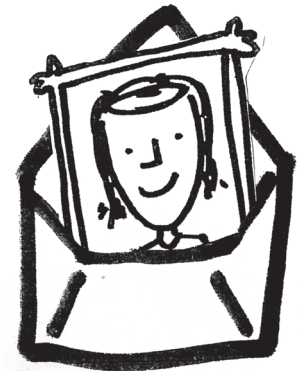

Here's how the Challenge works:

LEARN about areas of difference and reflect on what makes you unique!

MAKE a self-portrait (or a few!) reflecting who you are.

SUBMIT your art, and we'll match it with funding to support peace-building programs around the world!

Because of your participation:

- Boys and girls from different faiths will be trained in leadership and conflict resolution in Nigeria.
- Youth will use performing arts to promote diversity and understanding in Sri Lanka.
- Clubs will be created to bring boys and girls of different ethnic backgrounds together in the South Caucasus region of Eastern Europe.

Thanks for joining, from our team to yours! Learn more about the Students Rebuild Facing Difference Challenge on our website at studentsrebuild.org and on social media @studentsrebuild.
