

Students Rebuild – February 2013 We ♥ Our Rebuilders

Thank you for taking a stand against humanitarian crises by helping us cover the National Mall in Washington, D.C. with one million handmade bones in June, 2013! Each bone generates $1, up to $500,000, to support CARE's rebuilding efforts for young people in the Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC) and Somalia.

Here are three things you can do right now to continue supporting the One Million Bones challenge:

- Sign up for a Virtual Exchange.

Deepen your understanding of the issues through Interactive Videoconferences (IVCs) and Webcasts. IVCs provide students with unique opportunities to connect with their peers and guest speakers in real time. In these two part programs offered February through May, students will learn more about the DRC and Somalia and how they can take a stand against humanitarian crises through the challenge. Webcasts are 60-minute live-stream programs (through the web) that allow students to learn more about humanitarian crises from a panel of guest speakers and peers. Students can ask questions to the panel and comment through a live chat-room as they listen to multiple perspectives and stories. The next webcast is April 18th. Learn more and sign up here!

- Bring Students Rebuild On Tour! to your school.

Students Rebuild is On Tour! to promote the One Million Bones Challenge. Stephanie, Eric and Pauline are traveling with an awesome interactive art installation and will conduct free presentations and bone making workshops at schools and community locations across the country. On Tour is currently on the West Coast and will then head back East and South. If you're interested in booking an On Tour! event, please contact Abby Finck, Program Associate, at Abby@gng.org

• Volunteer at the National Mall in June.

Japan Challenge

Karl, our Haiti and Japan Challenge correspondent, will be blogging from Tohoku later this month! Catch up on his preparations, as well as cultural notes from Japan Program Manager, Hiromi, preceding the second anniversary of the East Japan Great Earthquake and Tsunami. Also, keep visiting the Japan Blog from now through March 11 for blogs, pics, videos and reports from the field.

The Kitakami Market has opened! After an exhausting move-in and an intimate ceremony, Satosan has started selling food and produce, and coordinating an incredibly popular community space, from her perch at the register. Find out more in this two-part post.

Haiti Challenge

Last month, Haiti observed its three year anniversary of the staggering destruction wrought by its 2010 earthquake. Few people know the nuances of rebuilding in Haiti like Schendy Kernizan, former SR correspondent and current architect in Haiti. Schendy shares his observations - from the state of rebuilding, to an update on Diandine, to some insight on name-calling - in a multi-part blog series.
